

The New Northwest.

PORTLAND, OREGON, THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1881.

LOCAL EPITOME.

Madison street is to be extended across Tanner's Creek.

Dr. Paul M. Brenan has returned from a short visit to San Francisco.

Five Sisters of Charity arrived on Monday evening by the steamer Columbia.

Woods, 149 First street, has the finest lot of straw hats ever in this market.

The People's Transportation Company's new steamboat Washington is now on the Portland-Vancouver line.

Owing to the superior finish and excellence of work, Abell stands preëminent as a photographer. Give him a call.

Third street, from Taylor to Washington, is to be macadamized. The thoroughfare will then be the finest in the city.

The Branch Land League's meeting in Red Men's Hall on Sunday last was attended by an unusually large crowd.

On Sunday, the Telegram base-ball nine of this city was beaten by the Willamettes of East Portland, the score being 5 to 30.

Hon. J. N. Dolph is erecting an elegant residence on the block bounded by Jefferson and Columbia and Fifth and Sixth streets.

The young wife and mother suffering from weaknesses and irregularities can find nothing equal to Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier to strengthen her.*

The law card of O. P. Mason, Esq., will be found under "New This Week." All legal business entrusted to him will receive prompt and careful attention.

Judge Sawyer has affirmed Judge Deady's decision in the bridge case, and the Willamette will not be spanned until permission is obtained of Congress.

A man named John F. Woods has been sent from Columbia county to the penitentiary for a term of three years, to expiate the horrible crime of incest.

The Standard claims that the black particles found so profusely with gold in Oregon are nothing else than iridium, which is more valuable than gold itself.

Through trips by rail are now being made between Walla Walla and The Dalles. Passengers from the former place can now reach Portland in twenty-four hours.

On last Friday evening, a boy baby was left on the steps of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Jones, No. 308 Sixth street. Neither its father nor its mother is known.

Last Sunday evening, the South Portland Mission Sunday School formally occupied the building which has been prepared for it. Rev. T. L. Eliot delivered an address.

Congressman M. C. George is back from Washington City, and looks hale and happy, though he is somewhat annoyed by the politicians who are continually buzzing in his ear.

Foy, Harmon & Co., of New Haven, Conn., have an announcement this week in regard to Madam Foy's Improved corset—skirt supporter, which should be read by all women.

General Joseph Lane died on Tuesday evening at his home near Roseburg, in the 80th year of his age. Many a citizen of Oregon will drop a tear to the memory of the brave and honorable old soldier.

The Oregonian gives an account of a case of supposed body-snatching. It seems that a corpse was conveyed to the medical college on Tuesday evening, but it is not known where it was obtained.

About two thousand men, including those who are clearing the route of timber, are now employed in construction of the line of the O. R. & N. Co.'s railroad between The Cascades and The Dalles.

The Supreme Court has affirmed Judge Stott's decision in the case of the Oregonian Railway Company (Limited) vs the city of Portland, and the narrow-gauge crowd will not appropriate the public levee of this city.*

Such a complete and varied stock of Spring and Summer hats, etc., as are now displayed by Woods the hatter was never before seen in Portland. The styles and shapes are all of the latest designs, and he can suit anybody.

Miss S. J. Thacker, of McMinnville, has just completed a successful term of instruction in penmanship at Hillsboro; and her patrons have requested that she will soon favor them with another term. The lady is at present visiting friends in Portland.

A special agent of the Post Office Department arrived on Monday and has gone to Roseburg to investigate the charge that the California and Oregon Stage Company neglected to comply with the terms of their contract for carrying the mail.

Hon. Levi Leland, of Oregon City, Grand Lecturer of the Good Templars, gave the New Northwest a call on Friday last. On Saturday evening, both he and Father Harman, of The Dalles, addressed the Open Temperance Association.

He would be indeed fastidious who could not select a Spring or Summer hat from the elegant assortment just opened by Woods the hatter. The stock was selected by Mr. Woods himself, and consists of all the newest styles of the best quality.

The horses attached to Mrs. J. C. Hawthorne's carriage ran away on Saturday afternoon in East Portland, and the lady, her little daughter, and two friends were more or less injured, though none dangerously. The carriage was completely wrecked.

Last evening, at the residence of Hon. J. F. Caples, the bride's father, Miss Mollie Caples and Mr. Arthur Anthony were married. Rev. J. H. Acton officiating. The young couple have the earnest wishes of many friends for a happy and useful life.

The first of Mrs. C. L. Henderson's course of three lectures for the benefit of the South Portland Mission Sunday School will be delivered next Wednesday evening in the Unitarian Chapel. Subject, "How we lived down South during the War." Tickets for the course, $1 00.

Dr. J. Folkman, the aged editor of the Staats Zeitung, was publicly horse-whipped on First street last Saturday by Charles Baechler, of the Deutsche Zeitung. The former is an unpopular man; but the German public, on account of his age, generally condemn the assault, as the assailant is a young and powerful athlete.

Henry Henrichsen has been placed under $2000 bonds to await the Grand Jury's action on charges of larceny and burglary. He was formerly in the employ of Henrichsen & Greenberg, jewelers, and has for a long time been a pilferer of their establishment, having a key to the front door.

Kerron & Macbeth have remodeled their large store at the corner of Second and Yamhill streets, adding a wholesale department up stairs, and a complete and separate grocery store in the rear, on Yamhill street. They are now fully prepared for either wholesale or retail business in the general merchandising line.

The Common Council has at last admitted Couch Engine Company No. 6 to the Fire Department, ordering that No. 2's small steamer be given to the new company. The Committee on Fire and Water will soon advertise for proposals for a building lot on North Thirteenth street and for the erection of an engine house thereon.

A large and beautiful stock of the latest designs of jewelry in ear-rings, shawl-pins, scarf-pins, etc., was received on the last steamer by Mr. J. Van Beurden, the well-known jeweler at No. 107 First street. He also has a fine invoice of the latest patterns of diamond mountings. His goods are all first-class, and his statements can be relied upon.

It is well to keep the public mind well stored with a knowledge of the fact that a noisy, hard-running, complicated, unreliable sewing machine is the worst mischief-producing instrument that can be introduced into a family. After a trial of sixteen years, the New Domestic stands without a rival. Try it. "No cure, no pay." E. F. Heroy, agent, 225 Second street.

Miss Carrie B., only daughter of Mrs. Walter Moffett, died on Tuesday morning, aged 15 years, 9 months and 9 days. The funeral will take place to-morrow (Friday) afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from the family residence, corner Seventh and Salmon streets. In her great and inconsolable grief, the mother is sustained by the sympathy and kindness of relatives and friends.

Mr. J. W. Bailey has removed from No. 47 to Nos. 83 and 85 Yamhill street, between Fourth and Fifth, or two blocks west of his old location. No finer staple and fancy groceries can be found in the city than at his new, neat and commodious establishment. His prices are the very lowest, as he sells for cash. All orders promptly attended to, and goods delivered to all parts of this city.*

Messrs. Olds & Summers, who have made so many friends since their opening in their present narrow place of business, have secured the room vacated by the Farmers' and Mechanics' Store, and will thoroughly refit it and be in good shape in their new quarters by May 1st. They will carry an increased stock of crockery and all goods in their line, and be better enabled, if possible, to give satisfaction to their patrons than ever before.

It is always a pleasure to note the success of any of our home firms, especially when said success is the result of enterprise and industry, coupled with fair dealing. The Farmers' and Mechanics' Store, the pioneer one-price dealers, have been compelled by their largely increased trade to vacate their old room for more commodious quarters, and are now located in the large three-story brick at No. 184 First street, nearly opposite their old stand, which is filled with a more extensive stock than they have heretofore carried. Everyone should call and inspect the new store and new goods.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Six Russian political prisoners, three of noble birth, are to be tried at Moscow soon.

The King of Abyssinia was killed in battle recently. He is succeeded by his son Michael.

The Black Death is said to have appeared at Bagdad. At any rate, the ravages of some plague are terrible.

Gladstone will not apologize for ending the Boer troubles, but will show that the war was an unjust one on England's part, and that he stopped it to save England's honor.

Meetings are being held in many parts of Ireland to protest against the enforcement of the Coercion Act. A number of persons have been arrested under the new law and cast into prison.

A Berlin cablegram says the famous anti-Jewish petition was sent to Bismarck on the 13th instant. It consists of twenty-six volumes, comprising 14,000 sheets, with 255,000 signatures, including those of noblemen, retired generals and officials.

Five of the Nihilists connected with the Czar's assassination, Ruzsakov, Michaeloff, Kibalschetsch, Jeliaboff and Sophie Picoffsky, were hanged on Friday morning last in St. Petersburg. Hussy Helfmann, who is enclente, will not be executed until after confinement.

The International Monetary Conference was opened at Paris on Tuesday. On motion of Wm. M. Evarts, Delegate Magnin, French Minister of Finance, was chosen President. The United States, Germany, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, England, Greece, Holland, Italy, Portugal, Russia, Sweden and Switzerland are represented.

Benjamin Disraeli, the Earl of Beaconsfield, died in London on Monday night last. A few days ago, the Brooklyn Examiner well said: "Since the memorable night thirty-five years ago when Disraeli arose in the House of Commons to make his famous onslaught on Sir Robert Peel for concessions to the Anti-Corn Law League, he has trodden every round of the ladder of fame which it is possible for a British statesman to tread. Aged, infirm, and crowned with the highest attainable honors, there is no more fitting time than the present for him to die."

In view of the fact that throughout the United States alleged French wines are sold, it is an interesting fact that France annually imports a million gallons from Spain, Italy, Hungary and other countries to supply the deficiency in home produce. The importations are watered, drugged and otherwise "doctored," and are then exported as the products of French vineyards.

Much testimony is given in the Christiancy suit to prove that the young wife could not have visited Giro at a New York hotel on Christmas. The Astorian comments thus on the case: "We are glad to hear the good news for Mrs. Christianity. We believe she has been willfully and maliciously persecuted, and is innocent of the crimes charged against her."

MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT.

The growth of the Ladies' Ready-Made Suit Department for the past two years has been remarkable, and may justly be attributed to the most efficient and thorough manner in which I have executed all orders entrusted to me. A lady can send a postal card from any distant place, state her size, and color of goods, and within one day can have

An All-Wool Black or Colored Dress for from $15 to $30,

And when not acquainted with me, has the privilege of examining the Dress ordered. No advance of money is required, as is the custom with New York houses, which is such a great risk, as many advances have been regretted by Ladies who waited two months for a Dress and then were disappointed. Ladies, reflect, and give me an order.
